

6101 Aluminum Sheet

6101 Aluminum Sheet & Plate – China Manufacturer, Complete Range

6101 aluminum sheet is a popular alloy that can be found in many commercial and industrial applications. It can provide users with high electrical conductivity and good mechanical strength. Aluminum 6101 can be machined, welded and formed using standard methods, and it is easy to extrude. Aluminum is one of the most commonly used conductive materials in the manufacture and construction of power distribution components and equipment. As a heat-treatable forged product, the 6101 aluminum sheet is most suitable for applications with medium strength and maximum conductivity. It is similar to a 6063 aluminum sheet, but the chemical change is small, which can enhance the conductivity. Although the conductivity is slightly lower than alloy 1350, it provides greater strength.

With years of aluminum sheet production experience, Mingtai can manufacture and supply premium quality 6101 aluminum sheets of various sizes and tempers, with reasonable prices and prompt delivery guaranteed. Common specifications are in stock with customized special sizes. To learn more detailed information, any inquiry is warmly welcomed.
